Special Cabinet Council, at the Palace, 3rd August, at 12 noon.

Present { The King
Mr Young
Mr Armstrong
Mr Judd
Mr Wyllie

In attendance Mr Lee & Mr Bates by Special request of the King.

Mr Wyllie was appointed to take the Minutes and to see them entered in the minute Book.

The King expressed a wish to have Prince Liholiho present. The Prince came in.

The King stated that he had called the meeting for them to hear the Petitions which had been presented - that His wish was that the Petitions should be read - then that Mr Judd Mr Armstrong the parties accused, should retire - and that the others should remain to consider the matter.

Mr Bates read the Petition of Foreigners & the names of the Signers

Mr Lee read in english the Petition of the Natives.

Both these Petitions were against Mr Judd & Mr Armstrong.

Mr Lee read another Petition by the Natives in their favour, & praying that the other Petitions should not be listened to - There were 11 other native Petitions to the same effect; also one from

Kekai Thurston and Kekana ~~Kele~~
Representatives of the people, stating their opinion in favour of Mr. Judd and Mr Armstrong, and founding their opinion upon many arguments.

Mr. Armstrong read the Petition of Waimalu Clergyman of Waianae, bringing to mind former fatal epidemics & deprecating
the removal of Mr. Judd and Mr. Armstrong on account of the present.

Mr. Wyllie stated the following reasons for his declining to advise His Majesty upon the present occasion - "Under the 30th
"Article of the Constitution the Ministers of "the Kingdom responsible for the policy of
"His Government; under the 32nd they are
"His Special Advisers in the Executive affairs
"of the Kingdom; but neither in law nor in
"policy can they be the Judges in their own
"Cause; Charges against any one or two of "the Ministers affect all the Ministers, for
"the Constitution makes them all responsible,
"and under such circumstances the Ministry
"cannot be the King's Advisers, for they cannot
"be impartial, and under my feeling of "respect to the Kings prerogatives in regard
"to His Ministers, for these and other reasons
"unnecessary at present to mention, I could
"neither be the King's Adviser, in regard
"to Petitions or Charges implicating, directly
"or indirectly the whole body of the Kings
"Ministers, nor could I even be present either
"in a Cabinet or Privy Council while such
"Petition or Charges are being Considered.
"If such Petition or Charges are groundless,
"the King will assuredly find them so, with

"Such impartial Advice as He may take, and
"if He with such Advice should find them to
"be well grounded He has the indubitable
"right to dismiss all His Ministers, and to "fill their places with those who will conduct
"His Administration according to Article 14
"of the Constitution. But, while fully responsible
"the Ministers have the right to be heard,
"to know precisely the Charges against
"them and to reply fully in their own Vindication."

Mr Young said that the above reasons equally applied to him that he took the same View, and that his belief was that the charge against Mr Judd and Mr Armstrong of having introduced the small pox was absurd.

Mr Wyllie respectfully suggested that as two of the Ministers were required to retire and the other two could not act, the Cabinet Council was Virtually at an end.

The King asked the opinion of Mr Lee.

Mr Lee thought that so far as regards the Ministers accused - Mr Judd or Mr Armstrong it would certainly be improper that they should advise the King under Charges against themselves, but that it was not equally clear that the same rule applied to Mr Wyllie and Mr Young, who were not accused, though he admitted their right to take the ground that they were Virtually implicated in the charges against their Colleagues.

Mr Judd stated his Views that the question on the Petitions was One of a simple yes or no, either in the Cabinet or elsewhere, adding that he would rather be absent than present while that question was discussed.

Mr. Bates stated that nearly related, as he was, to one of the parties accused, he considered himself disqualified and therefore would decline giving any opinion upon the Charges - that he would however observe that he fully approved of the Constitutional ground taken by Mr. Wyllie and Mr. Young, and therefore would suggest that the Cabinet Council be adjourned and that the King advise with the Privy Council, where there were Members fully competent to deal with the Petitions, without the presence of any of the Cabinet Ministers, especially as they would have the Kings Chief Justice to consult with, who was quite impartial in the matter.

Mr. Armstrong begged to add that for himself he had no wish to be present or to say one word in his own favour, but if Charges were made against him either as a private man, or a Minister, he wished to know them and to meet the most searching enquiry into them, assuring the King that as he had not sought office he would be quite ready to relinquish it, if the result should be that he were proved to have neglected his duties to the public, or even that there were any other than who could like

Mr Wyllie submitted the following documents viz:

Mr Charles R. Bishop's letter of even date to Mr Wyllie

A Memorial which he enclosed signed by 19 residents requesting the King to annex ~~these Islands~~ His Islands to the United States.

The undersigned ~~are~~ are of opinion that Mr Wyllie would be justified to submit these documents to the King, but only to His Majesty in Council Council in the first instance

Mr. Wyllie stated that His Majesty would perceive that they referred to a Memorial addressed to him suggesting the surrender of His Sovereignty to the U States. This extraordinary proposal he had submitted. ~~His extraordinary proposal he had submitted~~ to the Cabinet immediately, and they had concurred that it was proper that His Majesty should be made Cognizant of it in Cabinet Council.

He begged now to know whether it was His Majesty's wish that a Memorial recommending the surrender of His Sovereignty should be received and read.

The King said he wished it to be read. It was read in both Languages.

Mr Young handed in Mr Castles letter to the King of the 20th August, which was read in both languages.

Mr Wyllie desired to know if it were the pleasure of the King, now that he knew the gran purport of the Memorial that it should be received or returned to the party.

The King replied that it was his wish to receive the documents for information

Mr Wyllie was directed to reply to Mr Bishop & Mrs Castle, barely stating that the Memorial had been presented.

Mr Judd mentioned that he had submitted to the King Certain proposals which he had received from a party in New York in August last, for the purchase of the Islands for $5000,000

Mr Wyllie states that in May last he had received a letter about some such project, being entertained by Mr Benson, but as it contained some personal inculpations of a grave nature against Mr. Judd ~~[illegible]~~ he had kept it back.

Mr. Wyllie suggested that it be left to the King and Prince, & the Kuhina Nui to consider the Memorial, & then to ask the opinion of the Cabinet when his Majesty thought it proper.

This was agreed to and the Memorial in English and Hawaiian was handed over to the Kuhina Nui

Mr. Wyllie begged to call the attention of the Cabinet, before they broke up to a matter of urgency that Mr. Bates had pressed upon him; it was the nomination as early as possible of Commissioners of Customs. Mr. Wyllie stated that he had always been of opinion that neither he himself, nor Mr. Bates nor the Collector General of Customs were proper parties to be Commissioners of Customs. It had always been his view that if we had Commissioners of Customs at all, the proper Commissioners would be the Foreign Merchants themselves. In Valparaiso, the Government allowed Foreign Merchants to appraise goods imported; & if the Chilian Government could trust Foreign Merchants to value the goods on which duties were to be paid, according to that value, he did not see why the Hawaiian Government here, could not trust the Foreign Merchants to decide upon questions arising with the Custom house, it being provided that no merchant should sit as a Commissioner on any case in which he had a personal interest. Mr. Judd thought to appraise goods and act as a Commissioner of Customs was a very different matter. He did not think it would be safe to trust questions of law & property to the Foreign Merchants.

88 Mr. Wyllie said that the object of Commissioners of Customs was not to enforce the rigour of the law, but to mitigate its penalties & altogether exempt parties from them on equitable grounds, which the strict letter of the law could not hold in regard.

Mr. Wyllie added that there was no Officer of Government that possessed the knowledge of Commerce necessary to enable him to act as a Commissioner of Customs.

Mr. Indd replied that he thought he understood Commerce sufficiently himself. To this Mr. Wyllie replied that in his opinion whatever other matter he might understand, Commerce was assuredly that he did not understand.

The King adjourned the Cabinet Council till his further pleasure.

Mr. Wyllie asked leave to take the letter of Mr. Bishop & Mr. Castle to his office to reply to them, as directed, promising to send them up for the Kings seal immediately afterwards. This was granted.

Office Rules

The Minister of the Interior Office Rules having been often verbally discussed, certain Rules were read.

After some discussion, it was agreed on motion of the Attorney Genl that the Rules should be submitted to the Chiefs Justice for his opinion & that in the meantime each Head of Department should appoint his Clerk or Clerks, that the Department would open at 9 A.M. & should accept the appointment of the Department Clerk to serve at the public, or any other clerk acting for him, from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. & that the daily hours of business are from 9 to 12 A.M. every day, without any intermission.

The Ministers forwarded to the Council on the subject of New Fire Regulations

The Council resumed after considering that proper matter, & agreed to the following letter, viz:-

Honolulu 12th December 1854.

Sire /

The undersigned Members & Honorary Members of Your Majesty's Cabinet, in reply to your Gracious letter of yesterday most humbly pray Your Majesty not to accept the resignation of Your Chancellor & Chief Justice the Honble Wm. L. Lee. Should they, with much sorrow understand he has tendered to Your Majesty by letter.

Since 1847 Wm. Lee has served Your Majesty with a talent, integrity and devotion to Your interests & to the Cause of Justice never surpassed; He is not weary of serving Your Majesty, nor has he cooled in his devotion to the Hawaiian interests but feeling his health gradually decaying

To / His Majesty
The King

The necessity of Office rules having been often verbally discussed, certain rules were read

After some discussion it was agreed on motion of Mrs Adlem, that the 11 Rules should be submitted to the Secretary for revision and that in their revision while each head of Department should impress his Clerk or Clerks that he or they must vacate office if he or they should accept the nomination of Representative of the People or any of the Callings here or there from the performance of his or their duties to his or their Employers: That the daily hours of business are from 9 to 4 every day [illegible] any intermission

Mrs King's Communication of the Committee on the subject of Mrs Lee's letter

We the undersigned after solemnly Considering that grave matter agreed to the following

(Seal of Society)

under the consciousness that from that cause he is unable to perform all his important duties with his usual diligence & energy, he prefers the interest of the public to his private interest, and desires to withdraw that Your Majesty may fill his place with some one who has more strength and can better discharge his public duties.

The undersigned respectfully make known to Your Majesty their opinion that you cannot find such a Man & that the loss of the Wise & patriotic counsels of Mr Lee, at this particular Crisis when the fate of the Hawaiian Monarchy is to be decided, would be a Calamity altogether irreparable.

The undersigned would further observe to Your Majesty that in their humble opinion important as are the duties of Mr Lee, many of them may be performed by others, under his superintendence, & that if Your Majesty will authorise him to make arrangements with that view — with the view of preserving his health — and with the view of retaining in his own hands those of his highest functions which are most important to Your Majesty and to the Hawaiian Nation, Your Majesty will find that Mr Lee may perhaps consent to continue in office, so long as the Almighty in his mercy, may spare his valuable life which the undersigned unite in praying may be, for many happy years yet to come.

Mr Wyllie read that part of the note to Mr. Perrin (which he had kept back) and that part of his amended letter of same date to the House of Representatives and a translation of Mr. Perrin's reply of this date, received this morning.

Agreed that Mr Wyllie pass copies to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of this note of date to Mr. Perrin and of the translation of the latter accordingly

Mr Armstrong handed in the following in writing.

" Mr Armstrong stated that he " regarded the language of M. Perrin " as offensive to the Hawaiian Govt, and " people, although the words might not " have intended but that in his opinion, " is not a sufficient importance " to hinder the Legislature from considering calmly and with a single regard to the future welfare of the Islands, Mr Allen's Transfer Bill, or any other that may be presented with a view to get rid of the existing Treaty with France and secure a new treaty free from the unjust restrictions of the present one."

Mr Wyllie stated that he could not admit that written statement as a view expressed by Mr Armstrong when the translation of M.

Perrin's despatch was submitted on 29th March, no such view had been then expressed either by Mr Armstrong or any one else, but he (Mr. Wyllie) had no objection to record it; on the minutes of this day as Mr Armstrong's present view.

Mr Wyllie added that in his reply to Mr. Perrin, he had carefully reserved his right to reply more in detail to Mr. Perrin's despatch after knowing the result of his amicable conferences with Mr Lee & Mr Allen, but he never could take the ground that Mr. Perrin must either to cancel the Government or Coerce the Legislature, because he knew most positively that Mr. Perrin had no such intentions & it was not Mr Wyllie's opinion, that when the object was a new Treaty, it would be good policy to institute an angry debate on mere words, referring chiefly to the past or past occurrences which he had already discussed at great length.

The proper time, in his judgement, that the King and his Government might consider prudent and necessary would be after we have obtained the new Treaty, upon the basis of "An equal interest and honour of both Nations" which he (Mr Wyllie) in his reply of 28th March to * had laid down as the broad basis of future negotiations.
